About CSI Day: 6th March 1965 was the day of formation of the Computer Society of India as a Society. A brief background of the society which has been mentored and nurtured by several stalwarts down the years is given here.

The seed for the Computer Society of India (CSI) was first sown in the year 1965 with a handful of IT enthusiasts who were part of a computer user group and felt the need to organize their activities across the country. They also wanted to share their knowledge and exchange ideas on what they felt were in a fast emerging sector. The purposes of the Society are scientific and educational, directed towards the advancement of the theory and practice of computer science and information technology. Today the CSI takes pride in being the largest and professionally managed association of and for IT professionals, academic and student community in India. The organization has grown to an enviable size of 100,000 strong members consisting of professionals with varied backgrounds including Software Developers, Scientists, Project Managers, CIOs, CTOs & IT Vendors to just name a few, Faculty and Students of CSE & IT streams. It has over 70 chapters all over the country and serves the academic & student community through its network of over 500 student branches and around 800 institutional members. CSI has affiliations with a number of international societies with similar interest such as IEEE, IEEE CS, ACM, SCS, BCS, CSSL to name a few. CSI represents India in IFIP – International Federation for Information Processing, a society that represents IT Societies from 56 countries/regions, covering five continents with a total membership of over half a million. CSI also plays a leading role in SEARCC – South East Asian Regional Computer Confederation, a forum of national information technology professional societies in the Asia Pacific region.
